FESTIVALS

We are back with the programme information for the Dancing Histor(y)ies Festival 2025. After an autumn/winter of meetings, gatherings, and workshops to improve the DH Model, we are now preparing the full schedule of workshops and related events. The artistic and institutional partners continue to generate news about their meetings across the various venues where this year's dance festivals will be held. Now, our next step is to review the updates shared by our local partners about this exciting period we are entering, dedicated to dance and European cultural heritage

17th and 21st May- Castel Sant'Angelo (Roma)

From the Port of Ostia Antica, we will travel to Castel Sant'Angelo in Rome, where dance companies will perform indoors, showcasing their acts in unique halls—spaces and settings that will inspire and move visitors and participants alike.

After the days of workshops and upcoming residencies, our companies will develop a joint program featuring short performances during different sessions and times on May 21 and 22. This will involve a highly complex technical and human effort, marking the beginning of our dance festival season in archaeological sites.

From 5th to 8th June – Archaeological Park in Viminacium (Serbia)

The Viminacium Institute of Archaeology is organising its 2nd International Contemporary Dance Festival for Dancing Histor(y)ies on June 5, 7, and 8.

The festival will feature a local performance along with the four companies involved in the project: 420PEOPLE, Derida Dance Center, Polish Dance and ILDance.

In this evocative setting, contemporary dance, art, and archaeology at Viminacium will come together in five shows, engaging local communities. All the details of the 2024 Festival are available at the link: INFO VIMINACIUM

More information about the 2025 edition will be shared soon.

From 4th to 26th July – Festival de Teatro Clásico de Mérida

For the 71st edition, the Mérida International Classical Theatre Festival will organise activities aligned with the values and concepts of the project. Additionally, it will promote micro-events, workshops, and performances from projects selected for the 27th European Youth Greco-Roman Theatre Festival, 2025.

“Dialogue” is the word that defines Dancing Histor(y)ies — the dialogue between performing arts and cultural heritage, and the dialogue between institutions and different countries. This demonstrates that culture is a key tool to open doors, cross borders, and foster collaborations. All artistic partners will present their performances in July. You can find all information on the Festival's website link: INFO MERIDA FESTIVAL 2025

From 3rd to 17th August- Nora and Barumini in Sardinia

This year, we are changing locations and moving to the archaeological sites of Nora and Barumini, which are already preparing to host our companies during August:

- 42OPEOPLE 3rd August / Derida Dance 6th August / ILDance 8th August / Polish Dance 10th August
- Local production performance on 17th August

The rhythm of international dance beats strongly in Sardinia thanks to Dancing Histor(y)ies. Four international dance groups and a local production will take the stage with co-productions already underway from workshops in May and June, as well as residencies organized around the performance dates.
